J. E. GILLIS ACCIDENT VICTIM

J. E. Gillis, local solicitor, had the misfortune to fall on Sunday evening last, breaking his leg below the knee.

The accident happened at the home of C. J. Tompkins, where Mr. Gillis, in company with Mr. J. J. McIntyre, of Bellevue, had called during the evening to visit Mr. Tompkins, who had been ill for several days.

While about to leave, in some manner he tripped off a step and fell. Dr. Stewart was called, and upon examination ordered him removed to hospital nearby, where the limb was set, and he is reported doing fairly well. In addition to a clean break of the large bone, a slight fracture was discovered nearer the knee.

Mr. Gillis had about recovered from a defect in the same leg, for which he had been treated for close on a year.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MISS MARTHA KRYWOLT

The sudden death of Miss Martha, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Krywolt, which occurred at Frank on Friday afternoon, came as a distinct shock to the entire district. Martha was but twenty years of age, was well known and much beloved by all who came into contact with her. Her illness was of but a week's duration, and concluded with a severe attack of pneumonia.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon. Service was held at the home at Frank, the remains being laid to rest in the Blaimore union cemetery.

The sympathy of all is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Krywolt in the extreme loss they have been called upon to bear.

ROBERT EASTWOOD PASSES

Robert Eastwood, highly respected old-timer of Coleman, passed away on Sunday afternoon, following a long illness. Deceased was a bachelor and had for upwards of thirty years followed his trade as a tailor, being popularly known to all as "Bob the Tailor."

He is survived by relatives in Ohio and Ontario, some of whom are expected to attend the funeral at Coleman on Friday afternoon.

The recent issue of The Worker contains a sentence reading: "The Communists will be found in the front line of the fight." It should be continued with the statement that "their leaders will occupy safe positions at the rear."

I. O. D. E. JUBILEE BALL

Bills are being posted this week, announcing the Jubilee Ball to be staged in the Columbus hall here on the night of Monday, May the 6th, sponsored by Crows' Nest Chapter of the I.O.D.E.

This will be the biggest joy event of the season, so keep the date open.

TAXATION ON ALL INCOMES IF SOCIAL CREDIT WINS

Edmonton, April 12.—Direct taxation amounting to two-fifths of all incomes threatens people of Alberta in the Social Credit proposals of William Aberhart. Ultimate disappearance from this province of the present medium of exchange in Canada through issue of basic dividend credit certificates is another grave possibility of the scheme. Thus Professor G. A. Elliott, economics expert from the University of Alberta, analyzed the movement in his submission to the legislature agricultural committee.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Miss Jennie Lemire, of Macleod, is paying a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Hector Lemire and family.

Miss Godin, of Cranbrook, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lou Lemire.

Snow fell heavily over this district all day Saturday. People are patiently awaiting the opening of spring. They are anxious to get into the fields and at work in their gardens.

Mrs. I. Christie has returned from Calgary, after a few days visit there.

Bill Petapoff was rushed to St. Vincent's hospital at Pincher Creek, on Friday night, suffering with a bad appendix. An operation was successfully performed, and we hope for his speedy recovery. Bill is always depended upon to lend a helping hand in all social gatherings here.

Misses Edith and Sylvia Murphy entertained the Cowley girls' club at their home on Saturday night. On this occasion, the older boys were invited to attend, that they might jointly plan the making of a tennis court. On reviewing the object in hand at the meeting, it was decided to make good strong courts, which would take a capital outlay of around $100. The courts will be placed in the Cowley sports grounds.

A whist drive and dance was held in the Cowley school house on Friday night. In spite of the roads being in bad shape, a goodly number attended. While the young folks hooded down the good old tunes in one room, the older people were earnestly amusing themselves at court whist in another room across the hall. Prizes at cards were won by Mrs. M. A. Murphy, ladies' first; Mrs. H. C. Morrison, consolation; Robert Littleton, gent's first; Harold Cleland, consolation. This function was held to clear up the deficit of the Christmas tree fund. Near $19 was received at the door.

Christie and Mrs. G. Lote, ladies' first and second; Robert Littleton and Fred Tustian, gent's first and second. Mrs. A. Horning, who was hostess for the evening, served an appetizing luncheon at midnight. Table decorations were green and gold, with tapering green candles and bouquets of yellow daffodils.

MOHAWK MINE EMPLOYEES SWITCH TO M.W.U. OF C.

A split is reported among the miners of the Mohawk mine, near Bellevue, the union there being practically divided between the United Mine Workers of America and the Mine Workers' Union of Canada. Just what effect the division will have upon the agreement signed between the management and the U.M.W. of A. officials is uncertain.

Reorganization has taken place, with Mr. Mackenzie as secretary-treasurer.

"But . . . My God, man! To do that you've got to inform on Peyotl . . ."

"Well . . . What if I do? What good is Peyotl to anybody?"

"You . . . You can't do it, Sam. You just can't do it."

"Who? Me? I'll show you. I mean to have that girl. We've got our safe full of cash right now. In a week we'll own the Hour-glass and Soda Springs and the mine that old man Kane found. In a year I'll be travelling with my red-headed wife and you can buy one for yourself. Like it?"

"Spike did not like it and said so. The risks were too great. But Dustin did not even listen to his objections. He rose suddenly and seized his hat."

"I'm going over to the Hour-glass right now," he said.

Spike watched him go and shook his head.

"I wish to God I'd kept clear of Sam," he muttered. "They got nothing on me though. It's always been Sam gave the orders about the cattle. It's been Sam tended to the money and of it. Come to think of it, if anything happens maybe I'll prove to be the smarter man. Sam's headin' fer trouble if his foot slips."

But Dustin was heading at that moment for the Hour-glass. He knew that Crewe and Carr with Stone would be delayed in Seco and he wanted to be the first to tell the news to Edith.

She met him as he was dismounting amid a ring of angry men, for the Broken Spur was not loved at the Hour-glass. Dustin stared then down and faced calmly.

"I came over here to-night as a neighbor should," he said. "I've got some bad news for you. . . ."

"So you came to enjoy telling it to me?"

"He flung the words at him. "Go on. Tell your news. . . . and go."

"No More Cheap Mustard for Me!"

"What's the trouble now, Anne?"

"I made up my usual tried and tested Pickle recipe, but a friend of mine told me to use Bulk Mustard, it was cheaper. I did. It spoiled the lot!"

"That's too bad, Anne. You'll stick to Keen's after this! It is the pure mustard, so you always know just how much to use and you need never waste or spoil anything."

"All right . . . If you want it like this. But I warn you, you'd better send those men away and see me in private."

She scanned him even-eyed. There was some indefinable thing about him that convinced her that on this occasion at least he was telling the truth.

"Come then," she said shortly. The men stared after them as she led the way into the house and a little murmur arose that Red Thom quitted. The moment they reached the office she turned shortly on him. "Well," she said: "What is it? To what do we owe the honor of this call?"

"Do you know where your father went?" he asked.

"Of course. To meet his partner, Mr. Gerald Keene, who came on the evening train."

"Right. I'll tell you where he is now . . . They all went to the Silver Dollar saloon. Your father, Crewe, that wrangler Stone and the man Keene. They had hot words there of some kind. The lights went out. There was a shot fired. When the lights came on again the man Keene was lying over the roulette table shot through the body and they searched everybody. They found a Derringer pistol that had been fired in your father's pocket. He was standing right by Keene. . . ."

For just a fraction of a second Dustin shrank back from the light in her eyes.

"You . . . You liar . . . Scorn!"

"Come here and tell me a thing like that . . . You mean to tell me that my father shot this Mr. Keene?"

"No . . . He held up a delaying hand. "I mean to tell you that the Sheriff has got evidence that will send your father to the gallows for having shot Gerald Keene. I'm the only man in the world who can prove he didn't . . . Get me now? The first thing they'll search for is a motive. Why should Joe Carr shoot his partner? They'll find the motive in old Peter Vinton's will. The man Keene died a little while ago. You can verify what I say by telephone. Call up Doctor Epps. He's taken the wounded man to his house. By Keene's death, your father gets the other half of the Hour-glass. He owes me more than he can pay. There's the motive. The fact remains that I've told you the truth. The Sheriff has got proof that your father shot his own partner to get his share of the Hour-glass. . . . That's part of what I've got to tell you."

She swayed on her feet and her face, once red-and-white turned pale but the light in her eyes never changed.

"Call up Epps in Seco on the phone," he said.

She stepped to the wall-instrument, matched the receiver and got the number. Dustin could not hear what was said from Seco but he saw her face blanch and her lips quiver. Her free hand grasped at the wall for support.

"Then as I understand you, Doctor, my father is under arrest for . . . the killing of Gerald Keene. . . . Is that right?"

Followed a buzzing across the wire that her clear voice cut.

"What? . . . You say Mr. Keene died a short time ago . . . Oh . . ."

She turned away from the telephone and faced Dustin and her whole demeanor changed. She seemed to have shrunk and lessened but her eyes shone with an indomitable glow.

"Now . . . Doctor Epps says you are correct . . . That my father undoubtedly shot Mr. Keene. He says Mr. Keene died . . . And . . ."

For the first time she broke down and sank into a chair and buried her face in her hands while her body shook. Dustin came over and stood by her and ventured to lay a hand on her shoulder.

"It may not be quite as bad as you think," he said.

"How? Not as bad as I think . . . I know Daddy never did it. Or course he didn't do it. . . ."

"The Sheriff has evidence that he did," said Dustin. "They've established the motive. They found the man dead across the roulette table. Shot with a big soft-lead bullet from a Derringer pistol. They found Carr standing right by him and in his pocket was a Derringer pistol. It had just been fired and the bullet from Keene's body fitted it. Will a jury want more evidence than that? Use your brains."

She could not. They seemed atrophied.

"There's one way out," he said. His eyes sought hers but her gaze wavered and dropped. Some occult sense told her what was coming.

"What would you give," he said, "if a man could be found who could refute all that circumstantial evidence? What price would you be willing to pay to save your father a corner's inquest, an indictment, a trial and . . . a conviction. That conviction means a hanging."

"You mean . . . To hang some one else . . ."

"I mean to hang the really guilty man. Look here. No beating about the bush! I know who shot Keene. I'll come forward and give testimony that will clear your father and hang the guilty man . . . If you will marry me . . ."

Her eyes stabbed him like a knife. "You . . . You cur," she said. "To bargain over a man's life. I know what you were . . ."

"Stick to your tie-rope," he said. "I forgot what I know, your father hangs . . ."

In less than ten seconds she reconstructed the evidence. She knew that Dustin told the truth. The evidence was sufficient for any Frontier jury. Her father would hang.

"I . . . You mean that if I marry you, you will clear my father?"

"Exactly. You've put it in a nutshell . . ."

"I . . . I want time . . ."

"In twenty-four hours the man will have left the country."

"I . . . I can't tell you now . . . I want time . . ."

"I give you till to-morrow . . ."

"Can't you be decent just once? There is no question of love in this."

"I hate you . . ."

"What difference does that make? I break any horse in my corral till he answers to my hand. You'll do the same. I want you. That's enough! If I choose to marry the daughter of a cold-blooded murderer who shot his own partner . . ."

The telephone jangled again and she leaped for it.

"Epps again, Miss Edith. Crewe is comin' right out. Stone is staying in for the night." She turned to Dustin.

"Come over to-morrow," he said wearily. "You know of course that I will try to find some way out of this . . . If there is no way . . . I . . . I . . . I'll have to pay the price."

He had to be content with that but he almost sunk to his horse as he walked to the horse-block under the malignant stare of the Hour-glass waddies.

Stone went straight to Jameson's office and stayed there till Jameson stormed back into the place.

"No luck at the Broken Spur," he said. "Peyotl isn't there. And I can't get any trace of old man Kane. Have you telephoned Epps?"

"Listen to me, Jameson. I'm laying all my cards on the table . . ."

But one. I'm keepin' an ace buried. Joe Carr never fired that shot. The man who shot Keene had the gun wrapped in this . . ."

He laid before the editor that yellow-and-green bandanna . . . "Look at the shot holes in it. Smell it . . ."

Stone fished from his pocket the broken fragments of cigarettes that he had found by the lonely camp-fire under Red Water canon and the single specimen that he had taken from Dustin in the gulch de caballo.

"Check 'em up," he said. "Who do you reckon fired that shot?"

Jameson considered carefully.

"Some one who uses peyotl," he said. "All right. Who's that?"

"I only know one. . . . Peyotl Green and he ain't to be found at the Broken Spur."

"There's only one other place he can have gone. If he's not at the Broken Spur he must be here—in Seco."

"We can probably find him down in the Mexican settlement," said Jameson. "That's the only place he can get his drug. Let's go there."

It took three hours but they finally dug Peyotl up, a drug-sodden wreck from the jacale of Pascual Mendez. He reeked of sotol, that drink that has a special stink of its own, and they slammed him unceremoniously into the rear seat of Jameson's car.

"You question him," said Jameson. "Where did you get the pistol that you shot that man Keene with?" demanded Stone.

Miners Have Sentiment

One Rescued Tiny Apple Tree Growing Below Surface

In an Ontario nickel mine, 900 feet below the surface, miners found a tiny, stunted apple tree doing its best to keep alive with no more encouragement than the rays of a light bulb.

Evidently some workman's abandoned apple core had contained a seed that took root far down in the earth.

Instead of crushing the plant, the man who found it rushed to the surface called his fellow-workers, and after showing it to them, tenderly lifted the small tree and carried it to his home.

The English poet Gray wrote about flowers that waste their sweetness on the desert air. It might have been expected that that would be the fate of the apple tree. For who would expect to find sentiment and softness in a mining camp?

Perhaps it was the unthinking courage of the plant that appealed to those men whose fortitude is tested every time they go to their labors.

There is some hope for a world in which the most grinding of toil cannot crush the poetry out of a man's soul.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

TO A YOUTH

Never doubt that spring will come, Lacking not one flower;

Song of thrushes, bees loud hum, All its age-old dower!

You are young, lad, and in youth Love may seem Earth's ending;

Later you will learn this truth: Hearts were made for mending!

Never doubt that spring will wear All of beauty's guises;

Pruning petals in her hair, April's gay surprises.

Howsoever dear the thing Life from you has taken,

Still the lack is on the wing. Still the rose will wake!

Remarkable Sentences

A sentence in a handbook of "Useful Russian Phrases for the Tourist" runs: "Good Heavens! Our position has been struck by lightning." This reminds us of an old French exercise book which contained the following remarkable sentence: "My little dog his beautiful hair, but I cannot eat this gray soup."

The colms of many foreign nations are manufactured in the United States at cost.

Little Helps For This Week

"God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in time of trouble. Therefore will we not fear, though the earth be removed and though the mountains be cast into the midst of the sea." Psalm 46:1-2.

Though waves and storms go o'er my head,

Though health and strength and friends be gone,

Though joys be withered and all reliefs be gone,

On this my steadfast soul

Father, thy mercy never dies.

Your external circumstances may change, toll may take the place of rest, sickness of health, trials may thicken within and without. Externally you are the prey of such circumstances, but if your heart is stayed on God no changes or chances can touch it and all that may befall you will but draw you closer to Him.

Whatever the present moment may bring, your knowledge that it is His will and that your future heavenly life will be influenced by it, will make all not only tolerable but welcome to you. Nothing can affect you greatly when you know that He who holds you in His powerful hand cannot change, but abideth forever.

Applications Falling Off

Not Very Many Patents Sought For New Inventions

According to figures of the United States Patent Office there has been a great falling off in applications for new patents the past few years.

A noted inventor wonders why.

One reason may be that with so many men in the mechanical industries out of work they have lost contact with their work, and have had no occasion to think of ways of improving on what they are doing, or of inventing anything new. Another reason may be that modern machinery has reached such a degree of perfection that the scope for new devices is very much narrowed.

Until some new principles are opened up, the field of invention is nowadays limited. Perhaps the world needs a rest away from so much inventiveness.

If thinkers had not been so restlessly inventive there would be fewer unemployed everywhere.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

"He's been sitting there all day, doing nothing but wasting his time."

The oyster is a useful food for treatment of nutritional anemia, since it contains almost as much iron and copper as liver.

Australia's Wedding Gift

Carefully guarded and heavily sealed, a box containing two cups of Australian gold, the wedding gift of the Commonwealth of Australia to the Duke and Duchess of Kent, arrived at Plymouth, England, nearly three months after the ceremony.

Constipation Gone

Says Montreal Woman

Mrs. J. H. Laliberte, 7236 Duroit St., Montreal tells under oath how Fruit-a-tives brought her quick relief from constipation. She gave her experience before a notary so you would be sure that it's true. Mrs. Laliberte relates:—(I used to be taken with bad spells of irritability and lassitude. I could not eat right. I did not sleep well and could do my work only with great difficulty. This was due to a bad constipation from which I suffered severely. Soon after I started using Fruit-a-tives I became regular, my headaches and irritability disappeared. I have lots of energy now and can do all my work without any trouble.")

Still Use Old System

Steaming Ashes and Nile Mud Hatch Chickens in Egypt

Every year in Egypt hundreds of millions of eggs to other countries, yet hens with chicks are almost never seen there. The explanation is that eggs are artificially hatched by a system that has not changed in 4,000 years. The eggs lie for a while in steaming ashes, deep down in the hatching pits. Later they are put beneath black cupolas of Nile mud, lying on camel dung and covered with palm leaves. The system is so accurate that attendants can tell to the hour when the chicks will hatch.—Detroit News.

Nervousness, dizzy spells, tiredness, headaches . . .

Get rid of them this safe, natural and inexpensive way.

Now you can banish constipation without the use of costly, habit-forming drugs. Doctors advise Quaker Bran—the natural coating of the wheat. Let it work with nature to promote normal, healthy bowel movement.

Remember, Quaker Bran is different from all prepared bran cereals. It is pure bran, uncooked—untreated—unaltered.

For these reasons it is definitely richer in mineral and vitamin content.

There are many pleasant ways of eating this natural corrective. Mix it with your regular cereal each morning or make delicious muffins and cookies with it. Each package of Quaker Bran contains a booklet of easy recipes for delicious bran dishes.

EVEN GERMANY IS FOR PEACE

Frank A. Bayrd, editor of the Malden, Mass., News, and summer resident of Carr's Brook, Colchester County, recently returned from a trip to Europe. The following interesting interview with him is from the Boston Post:

There are no war clouds hanging over Europe. Instead, Europe, like America, is building for peace. Europeans scarcely breathe the word "war." It is in a man's mind to wage foreign dispatches.

This is the statement of Frank A. Bayrd, State civil service commissioner, and editor and publisher of the Malden Evening News, who has just returned from a nine-week Mediterranean cruise, during which he visited Italy, Palestine, Egypt and Syria.

"Even although Hitler has given the order to increase the German army, and even although Germany is increasing its defences, there are no threats of war bedouling the European horizon," Mr. Bayrd said in an interview at his home, 155 Webster street, Malden.

"Everyone knew that Hitler was going to increase the army. He told everyone that he was going to do it. Military attaches of every nation had obtained the information long in advance. Although I have no personal admiration for Hitler, I must say that he makes no attempt to hide his moves. There is no need of holding long conferences with him; he will tell you what he is thinking immediately.

"Germany is increasing its defences—doing it with the American money sent to Germany under the Dawes plan. The Germans admit it; they are laughing at us. Yet they are not preparing for war; they, too, are building for peace. We all knew that they were going to do what they were going to do. They sign up the Versailles treaty a year after it was signed, but they didn't say that they had done it. Now they tell us. What can we do about it?"

"There used to be an expression, as slow as a train in Italy," but now Italy has never electrified railways than any other country," he declared. "Great roads have been built. The unemployed and the many beggars who once were seen on the streets have disappeared. Instead, there is a great national spirit, a great love of country that has produced amazing and admirable results.

"Italy was never an athletic country, but it is fast becoming one. Military training for the young boys and girls has had only a beneficial effect on these youths; it has not taken them from their studies and their play, as many people seem to think.

"Italy has made great advances. There are a few murmurs about the high rate of taxes as the result of Mussolini's great programme, but it is nothing like the complaints we hear in America. Mussolini has something to show for every dollar that has been spent; his expenditures have been nothing like the NRA expenditures in the United States.

The Nanton News remarks: May 6th will be a national holiday all over Canada, so Blairmore's style need not be cramped.

STRACHEY GOES FREE

Evelyn John St. Lo Strachey, young British author and lecturer, was freed last week from the deportation proceedings started against him in March by the United States government. Mr. Strachey arrived in New York on Christmas Day for a quiet, unheralded lecture tour which took him to the west coast. Although not a member of the Communist party, Mr. Strachey is an open and brilliant advocate of reform and a firm believer in certain phases of communism. So, dear old Uncle Sam, prodded and misled by the Hearst newspapers, became alarmed, and on a most absurd kind of charge had the lecturer arrested by the immigration authorities. The result of the whole childish episode was to enhance the prestige of Mr. Strachey as an author-lecturer, to increase immensely the sale of his books, and to bring a good deal of ridicule upon the American immigration authorities. Before leaving New York last week on the Berengaria, Mr. Strachey was entertained at a crowded meeting at the Alpine Club, when he said, regarding his three months in the republic: "Nothing has happened which qualifies the deep affection I feel for America."—Ex.

A SPENT FORCE

John E. Brownlee's speech in the legislature a short time ago was a very good speech and received considerable applause. Actually, however, Mr. Brownlee is a spent force in Alberta, and it is questionable whether he should be in the legislative assembly at all. While Premier Reid may not possess the brilliance of Brownlee, the U.F.A. party will do better by forgetting the ex-premier and staying with the present incumbent of that office.

The Hanna Herald does not seek to ape the Edmonton Bulletin in regard to Mr. Brownlee, but we do feel that the decision of the courts places this man somewhat beyond the political pale. With all his ability (which The Herald has praised from time to time) there is now no place for him

THE NEW MARRIAGE ACT

Requiring health affidavits before marriage, the bill to amend the solemnization of marriage act was approved by the provincial legislature on Thursday last. All it required was royal assent to take effect.

Several amendments to the bill, introduced by Hon. George Hoadley, minister of health, were approved. Chief among these is one which provides that before a marriage license is issued to a person under 21 years of age, the license issuer must send by mail to the parents or guardians of the parties to the intended marriage a notice that application has been made for a license, and giving the name and address of each party to the proposed marriage.

Another amendment to the bill provides that no clergyman or marriage commissioner shall solemnize a marriage before the sixth day after a license has been issued. There is provision, however, for certain exceptions.

New regulations covering the publication of banns of marriage also are included. One provides that the banns shall be published at least three times, once on the first and twice on the second of two successive Sundays by a minister officiating at a public religious service. Banns must be published in a church or other place of public worship.

No marriage shall be solemnized upon the publication of banns, but within 60 days after the second Sunday upon which the banns were published.

In Alberta's public life.

Our political leaders should be men who can command the respect of all classes of people. They should be men whose lives are above reproach. We are afraid that Mr. Brownlee does not qualify under these restrictions. —The Hanna Herald.

Relief camp strikers were warned against staging a tag-day in Vancouver. They staged the tag sale somehow, and realized almost $5,000. What would happen if a bunch of Britishers attempted to pull that stunt in Russia?

In a judgment handed down by the Alberta appeal court, the appeal of the Law Society was upheld, and the action against it by C. F. Harris was dismissed. In doing so, the appeal court disallowed an award of $1500 damages given Harris by Chief Justice Simmons, who found that the law society had illegally and improperly struck Harris' name from the role of barristers. Harris is appealing to the Supreme Court of Canada.

A story comes from Cowley that the ditches along the roadside the early part of the week were filled to overflowing with running water, and that at one point, about 1 1/2 miles west of Cowley, at a sharp turn of the road, a fish, fully eight feet in length, failed to bend sufficiently to negotiate the curve and tumbled up across the road. Before it could be removed, two cars collided with it and overturned. Next?

DEMANDS OF GERMANY ARE BAR TO LEAGUE

Stresa, Italy. — Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Britain told the premiers of France and Italy, it was learned on high authority, that Germany's demands made at the Anglo-German conference at Berlin, precluded immediate German re-admission to the League of Nations.

MacDonald said further, these sources added, Britain wants a proportional disarmament agreement among the continental powers, with the establishment of a control body. Britain would adhere to such a plan without reserve, he declared.

The British stand was reported summed up as follows to the delegates at historic Villa Barenzio.

1. Britain considers it the duty of the three nations represented at Stresa to show their solidarity in the face of re-armament. Britain has decided to do all in her power to give proof of this solidarity.

2. Britain favors collective security. Within the framework of the league she believes security should be organized.

3. Such a task is to be achieved less through disarmament measures than through the fixing of a proportion between the armaments of the principal powers with the establishment of a strict control system to which Britain will adhere without reserve.

4. Britain desires to see Germany return to the League of Nations but in the present circumstances, and given the attitude of France for power of the third reich, she considers it impossible to open the doors of the league to Germany, holding unconditional re-admission would be a "disastrous" example.

A clash of opinion between British and French delegations developed, authoritative quarters said, after France moved unexpectedly to get British and Italian support for her appeal to Geneva against German rearmament.

The French, it was learned, tossed into the midst of the afternoon session their memorandum against Adolf Hitler's alleged repudiations of treaties.

Reliable sources said MacDonald and the British foreign secretary, Sir John Simon, sought to soft-pedal the complaint at Geneva.

Drouth Relief Bill

Action Will Be Taken To Fight Drouth In Prairie Provinces

Ottawa.—Twenty-four hours after it was introduced the government's drouth relief bill passed through the House of Commons. It had the blessing of all parties but warnings were issued against building extravagant hopes.

The bill will appropriate $750,000 this year and $1,000,000 for each of the next four to fight drouth in the prairie provinces. Dams will be built to store water, fibrous grasses sown, trees planted and illustration stations established to show farmers what can be done to reclaim their parched lands.

An advisory committee will be formed to guide the federal department of agriculture, which will cooperate with provincial agencies.

John Brown (Lib., Ligar), a western farmer for 33 years, believed the most good would come from grasses, strip farming and other cultural methods.

The minister said no one must be too optimistic over the scheme. Dams would be built to conserve water but that might or might not produce rain. The main objective was to raise the morale of the people and try to prepare for another drouth cycle.

While supporting the bill, Hon. W. R. Motherwell (Lib., Melville), thought the government should have acted sooner.

Greek Rebellion

20 Officers And Civilians Receive Prison Terms

Athens.—Courts martial here and in Salonika sentenced 20 officers and civilians to prison terms for participation in the Greek rebellion.

Five rebel officers were sentenced to life at Salonika and 12 others to shorter terms. The Athens court martial sentenced eight officers and four civilians to prison terms ranging from two to 20 years. Approximately 250 more prisoners are to go on trial before the naval court martial.

Oppose Plan To Sell Land

Doukhobors Unwilling To Give Up Land They Have Lived On For Many Years

Winnipeg.—Internal disagreement in the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood appeared following a recent announcement of J. P. Shukin, vice-president of the brotherhood, that 30,000 acres of Doukhobor land in the Saskatchewan districts of Verigin, Kylemore and Kevington would be sold.

Andrew P. Bloodoff, a member of the brotherhood at Verigin, has declared members of the sect in that district are unwilling to leave the home they have lived in for 30 years.

Learning of this alleged complaint from the Verigin district group, Mr. Shukin arranged an interview with Peter Verigin, president of the brotherhood and sect leader who is serving a two-month term in Headingly jail for having assaulted his interpreter.

Mr. Shukin declared, prior to seeing Verigin, the land would be sold and "any statement to the contrary made by such people as Bloodoff or other Doukhobors in Saskatchewan should be disregarded."

To Aid Celebration

Band Will Offer Services Free For Jubilee Celebration In Calgary

Calgary.—Assistance of bandmen in Calgary's celebration of King George's silver jubilee was pledged by E. S. Harris, secretary of the National Musicians of Canada, Calgary Branch, who said members of his organization were willing to give their services gratis in playing the accompaniment of children's singing May 6.

It was feared the celebrations would have to be called off when musicians, members of a union of organization with headquarters in the United States, declined to assist unless payment was made for their service. Alderman Dr. W. A. Lincoln said the city could not afford to pay musicians.

Degree For Bessborough

Conferred By Chancellor Of University Of British Columbia

Vancouver.—The honorary degree of Doctor of Laws and Letters was conferred upon the Earl of Bessborough by Chancellor R. E. McKechnie of the University of British Columbia.

Immediately following the ceremony Lady Bessborough was presented with a bouquet of yellow roses by Miss Clare Brown on behalf of the students of the university.

In acknowledging receipt of the degree His Excellency said that of the many links formed during his tenure as governor-general none were stronger than those forged by the universities of Canada among whose alumni he had been enrolled.

Jap Nationals Admitted

Ottawa.—Japanese nationals admitted to Canada during the four years ended with March 31, 1934, totaled 546 of whom 183 were adult men, 195 adult women and 78 children of both sexes. During the same period 164 British nationals of Japanese birth were admitted to the Dominion. The information was contained in a report tabled in the House of Commons.

WANT PREMIERS TO MEET WITH MAYORS IN EAST

Montreal.—Premiers of all nine Canadian provinces were invited by wire to meet here on April 22 with members of the continuing committee of the Dominion conference of mayors to consider "further decisive steps" in connection with the mayors' claim that the Dominion government should take over complete responsibility for unemployment relief.

The invitation was signed by the entire continuing committee, composed of Mayors Camille Houde, Montreal; James Simpson, Toronto; G. G. McGeer, Vancouver; John Queen, Winnipeg; George Wainwright, London; E. J. Cragg, Halifax; and by Fred Bancroft, Toronto, general secretary.

Mayors Houde, Simpson and Wainwright, with Mr. Bancroft, met here to discuss the question, the other mayors being consulted by wire. The wire to the various premiers read:

"You have received a complete copy of the decisions and proceedings of the Dominion conference of mayors which met in Montreal and Ottawa March 25 to 28 and you will have noticed that one of our two main demands was that for the very strong reasons therein stated the Dominion government should assume the entire responsibility for unemployment relief."

"We have not so far received any answer from the Dominion government. It is urgently necessary to take further decisive steps. We strongly urge you or your representative on behalf of your government to attend a joint meeting of representatives of provincial governments and our continuing committee, in order to discuss the immediate calling of a joint conference of the provincial and municipal governments of Canada. We propose that this first meeting should be held in Montreal on Monday, April 22."

Following their meeting Mayors Houde, Simpson and Wainwright wired their colleagues of the continuing committee that "notwithstanding the appalling situation which was laid before the members of parliament and the cabinet indications have reached us that the government is not yet alive to the existing menace to the peace, order and good government of Canada," through the unemployment relief situation.

The conference between the provincial representatives and the continuing committee would be preparatory, in the mayors' plan, to a conference between all Canadian mayors and provincial representatives with the intention of securing a united decision to lay before Dominion authorities.

The mayors saw such a conference as a necessary following the statement of Sir George Perley, acting prime minister, last month to the mayors that unemployment relief matters should be taken to the provinces.

Address To King George

Ottawa.—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett has placed on the House of Commons order paper notice of a resolution asking an address be voted to King George congratulating him on completion of the first quarter century of his reign.

NEW GOVERNOR-GENERAL

John Buchanan, author of many novels and histories, and formerly Lord High Commissioner of the Church in Scotland, who is to succeed the Earl of Bessborough in Canada. He will be the first commoner to be appointed to the post.

Held As German Spy

France Arrest Man Who Frequent High Political Circles

Paris.—Police claimed to have unmasked an important nest of spies in Paris with the arrest of a German, Edward Bernheuer, who they said frequented political circles posing as an apostle of Franco-German rapprochement.

Authorities said they had found on Bernheuer a list of questions asking information on varied military, diplomatic and political subjects which he had asked a French journalist named Armand Auvoursart to answer.

Bernheuer, who police alleged was one of the cleverest members of the German intelligence service, was held on a warrant issued by Judge Benon, the magistrate who conducted the original investigations of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Berocowitz, naturalized Canadians, and 19 other suspects on spy charges.

A search of Bernheuer's flat, police said, yielded nothing but a curious pencil case containing letters. A persuasive and interesting talker, he often frequented high political circles, they said.

Mystery Story

Legendary Gold Find May Bring Gold Seekers To North Area

Edmonton.—District prospectors in the White Court area, 100 miles from Edmonton, are anxiously awaiting the spring breakup to start a search for the legendary gold find of Moon-tan, ancient Indian who died recently with the secret of the source of his reputed find of a few years ago. Inquiries reaching the district from all parts of Canada as a result of the revival of the mystery story, may bring gold seekers from a distance.

Migration Policy Urged

Montreal.—The time had been reached when the governments of Canada and Great Britain should devise a definite joint migration policy, Lord Rodney, of Fort Saskatchewan, Alta., said here in addressing the Montreal branch of the Royal Empire Society.

Jubilee Medals

Want To Know If Medals Are Available For Sale In Canada

Ottawa.—Minister of Finance E. N. Rhodes promised to inform the House of Commons if medals commemorating King George's silver jubilee would be available for sale in Canada and whether they would be received from the royal mint in England for Canadian distribution.

The finance minister was prompted in a discussion launched by John Vallance (Lib., South Battleford) who told Secretary of State C. H. Cahan he had received a telegram from Lloydminster, Sask., asking if 500 medals could be obtained from the Canadian mint for distribution among school children.

Charles E. Bothwell (Lib., Swift Current) prompted Mr. Rhodes' promise when he asked for information "because the fact is I have written letters giving information to people in my own constituency who have made inquiries. He added: 'I hope I have not been misled in the matter.'"

FEDERAL PLANS FOR RESCUING DROUTH AREAS

Ottawa.—Plans for rehabilitating the drouth and soil distorting areas of the prairie provinces were laid before the House of Commons by Hon. Robert Weir, minister of agriculture. He was introducing a bill which provides $750,000 this year and $1,000,000 annually for four years following.

The bill was put into effect. The prairie farm rehabilitation advisory committee will be appointed to advise Mr. Weir on plans for rescuing the drouth harassed areas. The minister will go west as parliament adjourns for the Easter recess and the committee will be up and begin operations.

The program in a general way has been worked out, but the committee will advise on its development. Five rehabilitation areas are planned, three in Saskatchewan and one each in the other provinces. Each of these will include about 35 square miles where methods for saving the lands will be demonstrated.

About 50 large illustration stations, ranging from one to two sections will be provided, where the best farmers in any area will be selected to proceed with illustration work. They will be supplied with proper seeds and allowed certain payments on an acreage basis for carrying out work of reclaiming the land.

Certain abandoned lands will be taken over and efforts made to bring them back into pastures. Extensive tree planting will be carried out under contract with farmers in two areas, including shelter belts.

Possibly 1,000 small dams will be built on individual farms to conserve water supply. Owners of such farms will be supplied with engineering advice by the department of agriculture as to location of these dams, and in some instances farmers will be assisted to procure materials.

A number of larger dams, holding back surplus water of streams in ranching areas of the three provinces will be constructed. The lakes thus formed will provide both water supplies for livestock and for irrigation purposes.

In addition there will be township areas where supplies of grass seed will be provided to restore pastures when rains make the sowing of such seed advisable.

A considerable program of seed production is planned which will provide abundance of suitable grass and clover seeds to supply areas as required.

The advisory committee, farmer appointees of which will be from drouth areas, will consist of a chairman appointed by order in council; one representative each of the Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta grain growing farmers.

One representative of Saskatchewan livestock farmers.

One representative of Alberta range farmers.

One representative of mortgage companies of Canada.

One representative of the Canadian Bankers' Association.

One representative each from the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, Limited, and the Canadian National Railways.

Two representatives from the Dominion department of agriculture; and

One representative of the department of agriculture of each of the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

CONFERENCE ON RELIEF PROBLEM IS TO COME SOON

Montreal.—A conference in the near future between the Dominion government and representatives of the provinces in regard to unemployment relief was foreshadowed in a letter received here by Mayor Camille Houde of Montreal from Sir George Perley, acting prime minister.

Sir George's letter was in reply to one seeking information as to the government's plans in regard to relief following the demand last month by the Dominion-wide conference of mayors which asked the government to accept full responsibility of dolo costs.

Sir George Perley's letter follows: "As I said at our meeting with you in the railway committee room of the House of Commons on March 28, the government will take into consideration the substance of your representations, but we will follow the usual constitutional practice of dealing with these matters through the provinces. The relevant act received royal assent on Friday, April 5, and we have not yet had the opportunity of meeting provincial representatives, although the minister of labor has already been in touch with them by wire."

Weir was received here that Mayor James Simpson of Toronto was credited with the statement the Dominion government was prepared to approach the provinces with an offer to underwrite 75 per cent. of unemployment relief costs, leaving the remaining 25 per cent. to the provinces with the municipalities freed of expense.

Making Complete Recovery

Premier Bennett Planning To Sail For England To Attend Jubilee Celebration

Ottawa.—Although Prime Minister R. B. Bennett had not yet left his apartment he was expected to take some outdoor exercise in a day or two for the first time since Feb. 24, when he was taken ill.

Tentative booking has been made for the prime minister on a steamship sailing from New York at the end of this week to take him to the King's Silver Jubilee celebrations in London.

Mr. Bennett has had several conferences with members of the cabinet over the works legislation now being drafted to put many thousands back to work.

Introduction of the works measure is expected before motion is made for the bill to be taken up.

Mr. Bennett is said to be making a complete recovery and only a further breakdown will prevent his heading the party in the forthcoming general election campaign.

Help Railway Workers

Double Contributions From Heavy Earnings Would "Underdog" Assist

Ottawa.—Railway engineers, conductors and firemen working under certain conditions in a mileage basis that might give them two weeks' pay in one week should make a contribution of 25 cents for "each" week earned to the Dominion unemployment insurance fund, Senator James Murdock told the senate banking and commerce committee.

The former Liberal minister of labor believed the double contribution in such instances would be fair to the "underdog"—the railway sectionman receiving a week's wage for six days' work, and unemployed railwaymen.

Hotels Show Profit

Two C.N.R. Hotels Show Profit On Operating Revenues Last Year

Ottawa.—The Chateau Laurier hotel in Ottawa and the Nova Scotian in Halifax were the only two units of the Canadian National Railways hotel system to show a profit on operating revenues last year, Hon. C. F. Fullerton, chairman of the board of trustees, told the house railways committee. The Chateau's profit was $152,000 and that of the Nova Scotian $9,500.

To date, said Mr. Fullerton, $8,544,000 had been spent on the unfinished C.N.R. hotel at Vancouver. It was estimated $2,700,000 more would be required to complete that establishment, including the furnishings.

This picture, rushed from Berlin by aeroplane and boat, records a dramatic moment at the conference between Adolf Hitler, realm leader of Germany, right; Sir John Simon, centre, British Foreign Minister, and Capt. Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal. Their discussion centred around Germany's move toward re-armament and her entry into the League of Nations. Latest developments in Europe indicate that an international security pact will be drawn up with Germany included.

A bill to form an ironclad teachers' union is under discussion at Edmonton. It is not good business to put a group of people who are paid by public taxes in a position where they can dominate the public. There is no objection to a union, but there is great objection to the union proposed by the government in this bill. —Brooks Bulletin.
